Are your project costs increasing due to return field trips, clashes and interferences?
Is your project missing deadlines because of increased design and construction times?
Is the project quality suffering because of design and fit-up issues?

Quantapoint would like to offer a solution to these and many other project frustrations. We would like to invite you to a breakfast workshop to discuss how you can achieve "Zero-Defect Projects™".

WHEN: Tuesday May 1, 2007
WHERE: Courtyard by Marriott-West University Hotel
TIME: 7:00 A.M. – 9:00 A.M.

Our panel will discuss the latest and evolving trends in laser scanning technology and how it applies to the offshore industry. There will also be a question and answer session to address any specific issues, concerns or frustrations.

The goal for this event is to provide our guests with the information, ideas and solutions to impact their projects in a significant way, and how Quantapoint can help you achieve success by eliminating potential defects across the project lifecycle.

Please respond by noon on April 27th to Millie Brinkley at 412-653-0100 x-225 or email at mbrinkley@quantapoint.com. You will be sent a link to a survey questionnaire that will help us to provide solutions to the most common project frustrations. By completing this survey and attending the seminar, Quantapoint will have a special thank you gift for you.

We hope to see you on May 1, 2007!

Regards,

Millie Brinkley
